

Legislature Approves 4.5-Cent Gas Tax With Votes To Spare

LANSING—(AP)—A one-and-a-half cent a gallon gasoline tax increase—making a total tax of 4.5 cents—rolled through the legislature yesterday with more than enough votes to override Governor Williams' certain veto if present battle lines hold.

The governor's veto has been considered certain—but the possibility that house Democrats might bolt and help Republicans override the veto had not been seriously considered until yesterday's vote.

Political Riots End In Panama

President Bows To Public Pressure

PANAMA, Panama—(AP)—President Arnulfo Arias bowed to police and public pressure today and ordered restoration of the 1946 constitution which he scrapped last Monday. By this action, which won over police support he hoped to set in motion.

Arias' decision came after a day and night of rioting in which at least three persons were killed and 110 wounded or injured as angry crowds surged through the capital's streets, clamoring for the president's ouster.

Arias' hold on the presidency was disputed by Vice President Alcibiades Arsemena, who was sworn in as president before the national assembly just before midnight.

The assembly, which Arias had dissolved Monday, met in a newspaper office, set itself up as a high court, and impeached the president, then it summoned the vice president.

Arias got powerful backing today from Col. Jose Antonio Remon, Panama's strong man and the head of the national police—the country's only army.

Cal Waggoner Bets On Rain In Decatur; Lost Only 9 Times

DECATUR, Ill.—(AP)—It rained cigars and quarters today for Cal Waggoner.

For 46 years, Waggoner has bet his friends it would rain in Decatur on May 10. Today, rain fell steadily from midnight on. Nearly one inch had fallen at 7 a. m., flooding highway underpasses and street intersections.

Waggoner said his bets have never amounted to very much—a few cigars, and amounts of a nickel to a dollar, mostly a quarter a bet.

Missing Boy Found Dead In Icebox

NORWALK, Calif.—(AP)—A 10-year-old boy for whom sheriff's posse pressed a month long search was found dead yesterday, locked in an abandoned icebox in a neighbor's yard.

He was Charles Henry Houghton, one of four sons of a railroad switchman.

His decomposed body was found in an old refrigerator standing in a back yard less than two blocks from his home. Charles vanished April 12.

Deputies believed the child crawled into the icebox while playing, pulled the door shut and suffocated.

White House Helper Dawson Denies He Guided RFC Loans

WASHINGTON—(AP)—White House aide Donald S. Dawson swore to a Senate investigating subcommittee today he never abused his office to influence the handling of huge government loans, as the group has charged.

"To the best of my knowledge," Dawson told the investigating senators, "I have done nothing in connection with the RFC that is improper in any way."

With those words he wound up a formal and blanket denial of the subcommittee's charges that he has been involved in a "web of influence" which improperly affected the granting or withholding of loans by the Reconstruction Finance corporation (RFC).

The subcommittee in a report to

State college baseball game and locked the big chamber doors to hold their votes in line.

The 1.5-cent increase swept through the house by a surprising 73-12 vote. Eight Democrats jumped the party fence to vote with Republicans, apparently bowing to pressure from their county road commissions.

Three of the eight returned to the fold on a vote to give the bill immediate effect, but the 70-26 vote still was three votes more than enough to override a veto.

The senate passed the bill strictly on partisan lines, voting 25 to 7 for the measure and 25-6 to give it immediate effect. This is three votes more than enough to override a veto.

The bill will cost motorists about $25,000,000 more a year in gas taxes. Heavy trucks will pay an additional $4,500,000 more in weight (license) taxes.

Democrats Desert
The house Democrats who deserted Governor Williams on one of his most important issues of the year were Reps. Erlandsen of Escanaba and the following Wayne county members: Fitzpatrick, Jeffries, M. O'Brien, T. O. Brien, Mrs. Griffiths, Murphy and McMahon. Mrs. Griffiths, Murphy and McMahon swung back to the Democratic column on the immediate effect vote.

Thus, the Republican leadership achieved what it set out to do the first day of the five-month-old session and what it has taken them almost every minute of the 1951 session to do.

Five D&C Boats Out Of Service

Vessels Laid Up By 100-Year-Old Line

DETROIT—(AP)—For the first time in a century, there will be no Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co. passenger ships on the Great Lakes this summer.

The 100-year-old company announced yesterday it was pulling its five colorful vessels out of service for the time being.

Famed "D & C" was acquired a few years ago by Detroit George J. Kolowich, who has operated it with other business interests.

Kolowich gave as reasons for suspension a "lack of cooperation" by the City of Detroit, as well as "increased operating costs resulting labor contracts and governmental restrictions."

Kolowich seemed bitter about city actions which he said made it impossible for the D & C to operate.

"It certainly seems queer to us that in a year when dynamic Detroit is spending large sums to celebrate its 250th birthday anniversary, it virtually puts out of business a company which just celebrated its 100th birthday," Kolowich said.

He explained that the city had condemned nearly half of the D & C downtown frontage on the Detroit river for a civic center, and because of that the company could not pursue its "most profitable" line of business—package freight shipment.

El Salvador Quakes Leave Devastation; 25,000 Homeless

By ROBERT F. ALLEN

JUCAAPA, El Salvador—(AP)—Shattering earthquakes have left 25,000 homeless in southeast El Salvador. But the death toll—not likely to exceed 200—falls far below the government estimate of 1,000.

A visit to the quake area just south of the Pan American highway, 65 miles east of San Salvador, revealed scenes of utter devastation. The full fury of the quakes struck at this regional coffee center of Jucapa. Not a single building was left inhabitable in the area of 14,000. Already 77 bodies have been dug from the debris, identified and buried. Local officials expect to find as many again before rescue work is completed.

Next hardest hit was Chinameca, a town of 8,000 two miles east of Jucapa. There the toll has reached 15 dead and 71 seriously injured. Most of Chinameca's buildings were destroyed.

Rescue work in the stricken zone has been hampered by repeated earth tremors which have so far been light, but which are feared to foreshadow another major quake. Scores of these tremors were reported Tuesday and seven distinct shocks were felt in Jucapa between 8 a. m., and noon yesterday.

Jucapa is a nightmare of shattered wooden beams and piles of smashed adobe blocks. Here and there a roofless frame still stands at a crazy angle. All the inhabitants have been cleared out and troops have pitched tents in the main square. Some of the residents have returned to the devastated city to try to salvage belongings from the ruins.

Commenting on the protests, Mr. Truman said it was the same old fight. He added: When you tread on somebody's toes, he's going to scream.

He said the order was put up to him in advance and he approved it.

Allies Smash Red Threat On Flank Of Seoul

Chinese Wilt For Lack Of Supplies

TOKYO—(AP)—Allied forces continued Thursday night to roll back the hard-fist Reds on the Korean front—a battle which Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway said may have started the defeat of Communism's grasp for world power.

Armored patrols stabbed into Munsan, 21 miles northwest of Seoul, after wiping out a Korean Red threat to flank the bubbled Republican capital. Another tank column punched within 10 miles of Parallel 38 19 miles north of Seoul and eight miles north of Uijongbu.

Offensive Broken
General Ridgway, supreme allied commander replacing General MacArthur, said history possibly will record that the U. N. action in Korea has broken "the crest of the Communist wave."

Tanks and South Korean infantrymen hunted through Munsan without opposition, then withdrew. Elsewhere along the 100 mile front the greatest obstacles encountered by probing tank patrols were mine fields covered by small arms fire.

Chinese armies are "withering on the vine" because of lack of supplies, said Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps.

Keep Out Of Range
The Reds have withdrawn to keep out of range of U. N. artillery. Nevertheless, Almond cautioned, they presumably are preparing for another attack.

An Eighth army spokesman said 6,000 North Korean Reds who had threatened to outflank Seoul were either killed or routed.

South Koreans were mopping up remnants of this force Thursday west of the Seoul-Munsan ceiling. The total tax under the senate bill would be about $23,000,000, compared with the present $11,000,000 and the $25,000,000 contemplated under the original plan.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) said 27 corporations now are at the ceiling, but that the bill would reduce that number to six. These, he said, are the Dow Chemical company, Consumers Power company, Chrysler corporation, Detroit Edison, Ford Motor company and General Motors.

Rep. Einar Erlandsen (D-Escanaba), who sponsored the bill, said it was the only way Schuler could collect, since the court of claims, which handles suits against the state said it lacked authority in the case.

Corporation Tax Up $11,500,000

Increase Voted By Michigan Senate

LANSING—(AP)—The senate yesterday boosted Michigan's corporation franchise tax $11,500,000 a year.

Passing and sending the increase to the House, the Senate adopted a new formula as a compromise with senators who felt the original plan was too kind to big corporations and unfair to the little fellows.

The bill as it passed raises the tax rate from 2 1/2 mills to 4 mills on each dollar of a corporation's capitalization and surplus and lifted the ceiling on the tax any one corporation will pay from $50,000 to $350,000.

The original plan had been for a five mills rate and a $250,000 ceiling.

The total tax under the senate bill would be about $23,000,000, compared with the present $11,000,000 and the $25,000,000 contemplated under the original plan.

Marshall Back For Fourth Day Of Testimony

Airing Of Military Views Disputed

By JACK BELI.
WASHINGTON—(AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH) accused the Truman administration today of attempting to clap "a complete gag rule" on military field commanders.

His charge was made as an outgrowth of the hearings into the ouster of Gen. Douglas MacArthur by President Truman. Bridges is senior Republican on the Armed Services committee, which, together with the Foreign Relations committee, is conducting the hearings.

Secretary of Defense Marshall brushed aside today a suggestion that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had made statements of the kind that led to firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He said they were not "parallel."

Quizzed By Smith
For the fourth day, Marshall was in the witness chair before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committee. They are inquiring into General MacArthur's dismissal and the Korean war policy differences behind it. Questioning ended at 12:08 p. m. and will be resumed at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

At the outset of today's session, Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) quoted a two-months old statement by Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway which said "it would be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended with our forces in control up to the 38th parallel."

Smith asked if that wasn't the very kind of statement MacArthur has been criticized for making without first clearing it with the Pentagon.

Free To Argue
Marshall replied: "I don't think that there is a sufficient of a parallel there, senator. We have for example had no general public discussions regarding the 38th parallel so far as the commanders in the field and the government here in Washington (are concerned)."

"There Ridgway was saying something to the encouragement of his forces, as he did in a statement that was released this morning."

In effect, Marshall had already discussed the charge of a gag. He said yesterday MacArthur was always free to argue with Washington over Korean war policy. He was fired, Marshall said, because he aired publicly his views, thus raising the issue of "What voice spoke from this country on foreign policy."

Marshall was asked to tell the committees today whether Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer cleared in advance statements last month that the way to stop a build-up of Chinese Red air power in Manchuria was to hit north of the

Three Billion May Be Added To Income Tax

Lower Brackets Hit In House Measure

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee tentatively approved a $2,080,000,000 increase in corporation taxes today.

Members voted to increase the normal tax rate by five points across the board.

The administration has asked for an eight-point increase, which the treasury estimated would have brought in $3,300,000,000 a year

Norton Competent To Make Will, Opinion Of Three Witnesses

John P. Norton was mentally competent when he made his will Jan. 5, 1950, in the opinion of three witnesses testifying today for proponents in defense of the Norton will.

The three witnesses were Atty. James E. Frost, who executed the Norton will, Hubert Shepeck and William J. Schmit, who signed the will as witnesses of John Norton's signature.

Each responded with "yes" and "yes, he did," to a series of four questions after testifying concerning Norton's conversations and activities they had heard and observed.

Their answers calling for an opinion or conclusion based upon the testimony they had offered as witnesses in the hearing of the Norton case were given before a circuit court jury, with Judge Glenn W. Jackson presiding.

Based On Testimony

The four questions, in brief, were as follows:

1—Did Norton have sufficient mental capacity to understand the business of making a will? 2—To know and understand the nature and extent of his property? 3—To know who were the natural objects of his bounty? 4—To maintain continuity of thought to dictate to whom he intended to dispose of his property without prompting?

The witnesses answered all questions affirmatively.

Back On Recall

Previously the three had testified concerning the time and place of the will signing by Norton in the living room of the Norton home between 10 and 11 a. m. on Jan. 5, 1950.

They were recalled to the witness stand to give further testimony about Norton and their conversations and contacts with him.

Atty. Frost gave further details of his legal work for Norton when Norton was named special administrator and administrator of the estate of Mrs. Norton, who died Dec. 27, 1949, about nine days prior to the execution of the Norton will.

Lindenthal Proposal

Atty. Frost told of being at the Norton home Feb. 19, 1950, when Mrs. K. C. Fellow was there, and Norton said that Frank Lindenthal had been there the evening before with a proposed agreement for a settlement of claims.

The following day a discussion of the proposed agreement was held in Atty. Frost's office, with Lindenthal and his attorney, Atty. Wheaton L. Strom, James G. Ward Jr., and Frost present.

Because he was going out of town, Atty. Frost said he proposed "some amicable disposition of the Frank Lindenthal matter," and he said he recalled there was a temporary agreement that Lindenthal would continue at the Daily Press under Ward.

It was at that time, Atty. Frost recalled, that Lindenthal said that if he (Lindenthal) were left at the Press for six months he could make the value of the Press $500,000.

Norton Not Agreeable

On Feb. 21, 1950, Atty. Frost said he took up with Norton the settlement agreement proposed by Lindenthal.

He testified that he went over the agreement with Norton and to each section of it Norton said "no," it was not agreeable to him.

In cross-examination Atty. Frost said he could not recall Mrs. Fellow being present at that conference with Norton. He denied that he had, after reading each section of the proposed Lindenthal settlement, asked Norton: "You don't want that, do you John?"

Atty. Frost also testified in cross-examination that the request that he, Atty. Frost, prepare a notice that Ward was to be general manager of the Daily Press came to him directly from Mr. Norton.

He added in response to another question that he had not seen Norton sign the notice.

The Old Will

Atty. Frost in cross-examination was quizzed by Atty. Phillip Hadsell of Niles, Mich., counsel for the contestants seeking to break the Norton will.

The questions ranged from former testimony concerning the handling of the estate of Mrs. Norton to the provisions of Norton's old will, made in 1944.

He recalled the conversations by Norton in connection with the new press and the payment of bank dividends, previously told by Shepeck.

Schmit also told of being at the Norton home in March, 1950, with Ward when Norton recommended purchase of a 20-page, rather than a 24-page press.

Goedert Is Volunteer

Thomas Goedert of Escanaba, Birds Eye Veneer company employee and chairman of the civic committee of the Escanaba Trades and Labor Council, appeared as a volunteer witness for the proponents.

He said he had known Norton for about 40 years, had lived near the Norton home from 1943 to 1949, and had talked with Norton several times. The last conversation was in front of the Daily Press office on Jan. 12, 1950, before Norton left for Rochester to have his eye removed, Goedert testified.

Miss Katharine Haskitt, record librarian, St. Francis hospital, identified hospital records for February and March, 1950, introduced by the proponents for use when another witness is to be called this afternoon.

Clarify Lease Terms

Called by proponents yesterday afternoon, Joseph Schleis, mover and trucker of Escanaba, testified that on Oct. 19, 1949, he had moved a refrigerator from the Household Electric company to an apartment in a building at 502 Ludington owned by Frank Lindenthal.

William M. Layman, auditor for M. S. Kuhns company of Chicago, previously testified an audit revealed the refrigerator had been paid for by the Daily Press with a check made by Lindenthal and marked as for equipment for the Press photo-engraving department.

One paragraph in yesterday's story concerning a proposed lease-purchase agreement between John Norton and Mack Norton and James G. Ward Jr., was garbled by a typographical error. The paragraph should have read as follows:

Layman also testified that Norton said he wanted Ward and Mack Norton to "be in on this lease," with Ward holding 75 per cent of the lease because of his responsibility as manager, and Mack Norton to have 25 per cent of the lease because of "his good business advice and counsel."

One-Man Grand Jury Endorsed

Attorneys Call For Immunity Clause

LANSING—(P)—Supporters of the one-man grand jury system argued before a senate committee last night that the system would be meaningless without a strong immunity clause.

They attacked a provision in the house-approved version which would permit a recalcitrant witness to decide whether to accept immunity from prosecution in return for his testimony.

Former Governor Wilbur M. Brucker, Chester J. Morse, secretary of the Detroit Citizens League, Leo I. Franklin, resident of the Detroit bar, Chris Youngjohn, bar spokesman, and Louis I. Cohane, former bar official of Detroit, advocated the return to the one-man grand jury. Walter M. Nelson, Detroit attorney, opposed it.

Morse said the heart of the grand jury system was the grand juror's power to grant immunity. Without it, he said, a grand jury is "pretty much stymied."

Morse opposed a House proposal to allow witnesses the benefit of counsel, while Brucker said he thought that provision would not be harmful and would help to overcome the average man's fear of the grand jury.

Brucker said that courts and prosecutors needed a modern weapon against organized crime, conspiracy, rackets and bribery. He urged the senate judiciary committee not to do what it has hinted it may do—propose a grand jury of one judge and several laymen or lawyers.

Brucker said the present three-judge grand jury system is not working, that a panel of laymen would be unwieldy and unfamiliar with the law and that a panel of attorneys would have too many "retainers and other connections" to be good grand jurors.

Archery Hunting Is Hot Potato

Lansing Committee Tries To Dump Bill

LANSING—(P)—The house today was faced with the unprecedented action of a committee chairman asking that his own committee be discharged from considering a bill it had bottled up.

Rep. Emil R. Peltz (R-Rogers City) chairman of the conservation committee, planned to move that the house order the committee to report out a bill adding seven more counties to the list of those in which archers may shoot deer of either sex.

Not only is the motion itself rarely made, but historians said they believed a committee chairman had never made the move against his own committee in Michigan legislative history.

The development was laid to an almost pathological fear the committee has developed to giving discretionary power over deer bag limits and seasons to the conservation commission.

Rep. Hugo A. Nelson (R-Indian River), a committee member, reportedly campaigned in the committee for killing the bill because he feared another attempt would be made to attach the discretionary power to it.

Last week after a long fight, the house turned down a first attempt to attach discretionary power to another bill amending the game law.
The seven counties to be added to the pending bill include Peltz's own Presque Isle county. Others proposed added are Marquette, Kalkaska, Missaukee, Ogemaw, Arenac and Gladwin. If they are added to the list, it will leave only 10 counties in which archers are limited to bucks only.

U. P. Scout Head Resigns Position

Thompson Will Go To Springfield, Ill.

George Swenson, Houghton, president of the Hiawathaland Council, Boy Scouts of America, has announced the resignation of R. L. Thompson as Scout executive of the council, effective June 15. Thompson has resigned in order to accept a promotion to the position of Scout executive of the Abraham Lincoln council, with headquarters at Springfield, Ill.

"Dick," as he is known to the Scouts of the council, came to the Upper Peninsula from East St. Louis, Illinois the first of July, 1944, at the time the five local councils in the Peninsula merged, to form the Hiawathaland council.

During his administration of this council, the Scouting membership has grown from 2639 to 4006 boys—a net increase of 51 per cent in membership.

During the seven years, since the Hiawathaland council was formed, the camping program and facilities have also been coordinated, with the organization concentrating on two summer camps. These are Camp Min-Ne-Ya-Ta, on Ross Lake, southwest of Ishpeming, and Camp Red Buck, on Red Jack Lake, southeast of Munising. New buildings have been installed in these camps, new tentage, kitchen and dining facilities and other equipment, which have made them two of the finest Scout camps in the region. Each camp is equipped to handle 70 boys, plus staff, and each operate five weeks during the summer months.

In addition, the council has sponsored special adventure trips to Isle Royale and canoe trips on the Tahquamenon river for explorers.

There are five districts in the council, each with a field Scout executive to maintain service and each with a strong district committee functioning to administer the Scouting program for the boys in their particular area.

In commenting on the resignation, Swenson said, "We are very sorry to lose Thompson as our Scout executive, but we are happy about his promotion and feel that our loss is a gain for the other council."

A replacement will be made in the very near future, with an experienced man being chosen from several by the Boy Scouts of America's personnel division.

Federal Timber Policy Opposed

25 Loggers Meet At Iron River

IRON RIVER—Some 25 loggers in the district are protesting the sale of about 12,000 cords of pulpwood to be cut from the Bush creek area in the Ottawa National forest, in the northwest part of Iron county.

At a meeting at the city hall the loggers said that they cannot bid on the cutting because most of them are small operators. Only large corporations, they claim, have the facilities to bid on such a large job.

The loggers recommended that the large tract in Bush creek be divided into parcels so small logger may bid. Forestry officials at the meeting, however, declared that it was too late now to alter the plans, and that it has been the policy of the government to offer pulpwood and timber sales on a large scale where conditions permit.

The protest of the local operators is in line with a similar complaint made a few months ago by the Timber Producers association, of which local operators are members.

Inflation Will Sap Defenses Unless Congress Cuts Spending

NO economic expert believes the inflation threat is ended in this country. On the contrary, the feeling is widespread that as defense orders swell in the months ahead the inflation spiral will soar to new heights.

The evidence pointing that way is available to all, including every member of Congress. No important economic factors lead in the opposite direction.

Yet in the face of this evidence, what is Congress doing or planning to do to curb inflation?

President Truman asked for a minimum of $10 billion in new taxes, partly to put the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis and partly as an anti-inflation weapon. Reports emerging from the tax-writing House ways and means committee indicate he'll be fortunate to get a bill calling for a half or two-thirds of that sum.

It's well known that existing farm parity price law is one of the biggest bars to adequate control of the price structure. But again, sounds emanating from Capitol Hill make it plain little will be done to clamp a tight ceiling on food prices.

Government spending is a topic dear to the hearts of many lawmakers. Some of them have been harping on it for nearly two decades. But the trouble is they never do anything about it except talk. The economists agree that here, again, is a field where inflation could be affected through reduction of outlays.

Congress each year plays a little game in the name of economy. The House appropriations committee reports out certain bills covering various agencies, advertising sharp reductions from the president's budget estimates of January. These are presented as "savings."

What follows thereafter is less well advertised. Often the Senate simply restores the cuts and there're forgotten. Sometimes the reductions actually represent lowered department estimates, but the lawmakers take the credit. In many cases the slashes are really guesses that money needs in particular agencies will not be as great as the administration thinks.

If the guesses turn out to be wrong, then the affected agencies simply return later for more money. And they get it, in so-called deficiency appropriation bills which are acted upon with much less fanfare than the major bills passed each year. Those deficiency measures cover a multitude of quietly corrected mistakes. Some are department errors, but plenty can be laid at the door of Congress.

Scanning congressional achievements and plans this year on the anti-inflation front, one can only conclude that our lawmakers do not intend to grapple seriously with the booming cost of the things we live by.

Since they can read the signs of inflation as well as the next fellow, we must assume either that they want a certain amount of additional inflation, or that they haven't the gumption to do anything drastic about it.

Price rises may rob us of from 10 to 20 per cent of the military "hardware" we're supposed to get under the president's current defense program. If that happens, the guns and tanks and planes will be gone just as surely as if they had been bombed to pieces by enemy aircraft.

Should a new inflation gnaw away at the hard substance of our defense, the thoughts of the American people may well go back to the casual attitude their lawmakers exhibited in this spring of 1951, while there was still a chance to do something about it.

Frank Barron, A Good Neighbor

FRANK BARRON, Escanaba township farmer, has done many "good neighbor" deeds, most of which have been unpublicized but the latest of his acts of kindness deserves public attention. It was brought to light Tuesday night when the Escanaba city council accepted a grant of property in Escanaba township from Barron, an outright gift for the benefit not only of the school district but for all public groups and church groups in the area.

The property contains valuable top soil to be made available for improvement of public lawns, playgrounds, parks, etc. It will be used to help make Escanaba beautiful by improvement of landscapes in public areas, church yards, etc.

This kind of good neighborliness deserves the light of public attention.

INDIANS AND DEBTS (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

During the last 17 years the federal government has loaned to American Indians $16.5 million dollars. The Bureau of Indian Affairs reports that only $6,000 of this sum had to be written off as bad.

It is not recorded that any of the money advanced to Indians went to build hear big Saxony tepees where the tribal members could foregather and bet on the ponies; neither did any of the Indian money go to setting up mammoth plants on the Lustron order where every day's operation meant the loss of thousands of dollars except to the fellows who were running the game and who had voted themselves big salaries.

We may always have a Reconstruction Finance corporation but if those who operate its affairs want to make an enviable record whereby the losses are trivial in comparison to the interest received they might to advantage look up a little more Indian business.

Most people will agree that what this country needs is a bunch of robots to do service in dentists' chairs.

By Gordon Martin

Bigness

If a man is really big, he'll be a modest fellow too, who declines to flaunt his great success before the public view. But another chap who makes a pile must stage himself a show, to display to other people that he's rolling in the dough. And it's very soon apparent, from the many things he buys, that he values most possessions in proportion to their size.

Now if first he builds himself a house, he lets there be no doubt, that it's bigger than the one a rival likes to brag about. If he buys himself an auto, once again he seeks renown, as the guy who owns the slickest and the longest bus in town. If he purchases a diamond that is pleasing to his eye, it is bound to be as flashy as a searchlight in the sky.

It's the size of things he owns, he thinks, that measures out his worth, and whatever he would buy, he wants the biggest one on earth. Cost to him is unimportant as he throws around his cash, and he plots and schemes and plans the way to make the biggest splash. And too late he learns his great mistake for which he can't atone—that big men are big in mind and heart and not for what they own.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Handsome Senator Burnet Rhet Maybank of South Carolina was attending a White House conference the other day on price controls, inflation and defense mobilization. Some of the price-control measures were not too popular with his constituents and Senator Maybank remarked:

"Mr. President, I am getting an awful lot of letters expressing views on this. Would you like to look them over?"

Mr. Truman replied that he, too, had received hundreds of letters and countered by asking Maybank if he would like to have him, Truman, send his letters to Maybank.

"Send me any letters you want to, Mr. President," replied the senator from South Carolina, "but for God's sake, don't write me any!"

NO PEACE

The Indian ambassador to China, Sardar Pannikkar, has cabled Prime Minister Nehru of India an important message advising that there is no chance of peace with the Chinese.

His cable is significant because it was Ambassador Pannikkar who first warned the United States and the U. N. that Chinese troops were going to intervene in Korea. This warning was made in early September, and although MacArthur now says he got no warning from anyone, Pannikkar's warning was not only sent him by the state department but was published in this column on Sept. 17.

What is important to remember now, however, is that during December and January Ambassador Pannikkar favored conciliation toward the Chinese, felt there was a chance for a military truce.

Now he has reversed himself, advises that China has no intention whatever of negotiating peace and the United Nations might just as well get tough.

LIVELY PUBLISHER

Copyreaders of the New Orleans Times-Picayune are in for trouble. They may have to censor Hedda Hopper's Hollywood column in the future.

The Times-Picayune, now facing a justice department antitrust suit, has claimed that publisher Leonard Nicholson is too ill to testify. Justice department lawyers countered the Mr. Nicholson was well enough to attend the American Newspaper Publishers convention at the Waldorf in New York, but Judge Earl Christenberry, former secretary of Huey Long, ruled that Nicholson would only have to answer written questions, not appear in court personally.

Next day, the Times-Picayune carried a story recounting the court argument and pointing out that its publisher was too ill to testify. But on an inside column of the same paper, Hedda Hopper indicated that publisher Nicholson was quite a gay blade. She told how he attended a party in the New York dressing room of Gertrude Lawrence, starring in "The King and I," along with Kent Cooper, Mrs. Robert McCormick, and John Horne of the Rocky Mount, N. C., Telegram.

Justice department attorneys feel that if the Times-Picayune publisher was able to attend a theatrical party, he is well enough to appear in court. But they are wondering what publisher Nicholson is saying to his copyreaders who failed to censor Hedda Hopper's column.

WAR CRIMINAL

The U. S. immigration office at Los Angeles has been holding closed hearings regarding one of the most notorious war criminals who so far has escaped punishment. He is Andre Artukovitch, minister of interior and in charge of the police for Hitler's puppet government at the time the Nazis occupied Yugoslavia.

For some strange reason, so far unexplained, Artukovitch managed to enter the United States, and has been living near Los Angeles, where he is working with his brother, John M. Artukovitch, a contractor.

Why he has been allowed to stay here remains a mystery. For some years, the Yugoslav government has been trying to find him, since, under him, one million Serbs and Jews were killed.

STRUGGLE FOR OIL

The British government has accused the United States of double-crossing it in Iran by trying to take over the British government-owned Anglo-Iranian oil company. Representatives of three American oil companies have secretly approached the Iranian government with offers to manage the Anglo-Iranian company now that it is being nationalized.

As a result, British Foreign Minister Morrison, furious, told U. S. Ambassador Walter Gifford in London that the United States seems to be playing both sides of the street. On one hand it urges the British to accept Iran's decision to nationalize oil. On the other hand, it passes word to the American oil companies to try to operate the wells and freeze out the British.

AN AVERAGE OF 16 MILLION TONS OF WATER fall from the sky, as rain, snow or hail, every second of the day and night but despite this the oceans get no fuller, the land gets no damper and the air gets no drier. Vagaries of rainfall actually are stranger than fiction. Top right, typical automatic rainfall recorder at one of Uncle Sam's weather stations. The instrument is connected electrically with a rain-gauge on the roof of the building.

Actual Vagaries Of Rainfall Are Stranger Than Fiction

By MARY JANE MOORE

A well known meteorologist has estimated that, on the average, sixteen million tons of water fall from the sky, as rain, snow or hail, every second of the day and night. Despite this incessant downpour, the oceans get no fuller, the land, as a whole, gets no damper, and the air gets no drier. The reason is that, in the long run, "precipitation," as the weatherman calls the fall of water in all its forms, is exactly balanced by evaporation. All the moisture that falls upon the earth goes back, sooner or later, into the atmosphere.

There is a continual interchange of water between the earth and its atmosphere, as a result of evaporation, condensation and precipitation. According to an authoritative estimate, the amount of water present at any one time in the atmosphere averages about 1/41 of the annual rainfall. Hence the supply of atmospheric moisture must be renewed about 41 times a year on an average, and the water taken into the atmosphere by evaporation must return to the earth as rain or snow after a period averaging about nine days.

39½ Inches a Year

According to the same authority, the rainfall of the globe averages about 39½ inches a year. The average is considerably greater over the oceans than over the lands; viz, 45 and 26½ inches, respectively.

The story is told of the English gardener who, having undertaken for the first time in his life to read a rain-gauge, reported that the rainfall was between a pint and a pint and a half. Rain of course generally is measured in terms of depth and not volume. In English speaking countries it usually is measured in inches and fractions thereof.

Now an inch is not a unit that suggests big things. However, an inch of rainfall seems an insignificant amount only until we learn that it means 113 tons of water to the acre. An inch of rain falling over one square mile yields 72,320 tons of water.

The amount of water falling in a single widespread shower often is prodigious. It can be measured somewhat roughly wherever rain-gauges are prevalent. In India, for example, where rain is a subject of absorbing interest and is measured at hundreds of places, there is a record of a shower that fell over an area of about 10,000 square miles. The numerous gauge readings taken within this area indicated a total fall of something like 7,000,000,000 tons of water.

Because of the striking local variations to which rainfall is subject, it is quite impossible to provide in any region enough rain-gauges to furnish an entirely accurate record of the amount of rain falling over the region during a single shower or during any relatively short period up to a year or more. Hence, in all parts of the world where rainfall is measured there is much uncertainty about the amount that falls over any considerable area on a particular day or during a particular month or year. On the other hand, in the course of many years a few gauges, suitably exposed, probably give fairly accurate average values for any region where the rainfall is not greatly complicated by topography. Rainfall in general is so much influenced by altitude and slope that there usually is a large element of guesswork in the figures relating to the rainfall of a mountainous region.

Localized Rainfall

Some interesting cases of sharply localized rainfall have been reported. In England, a few years ago, heavy rain fell on a strip of land 30 feet wide and 3 miles long, between Chatham and Cobham, but nowhere else in the neighborhood.

The Greensboro (N.C.) News of June 27, 1932, records: "A freak rain wet one side of a paved road for half a mile or more, leaving the other side dry. The difference between the wet and dry conditions of the two shoulders was striking. One wheel of an auto could go in the wet while the other was dry."

So far as trustworthy statistics go, the village of Cherrapunji, in the Khasi Hills of Assam, still holds, as it has done for many years, the distinction of being the rainiest known spot on the globe. The latest official figures for its average yearly wetness is 428 inches, but the official rain-gauge is said not to be in the wettest part of the town and other gauges give higher values; one as high as 450 inches a year. The place occupies a small level tract about 4,300 feet above sea level, at the head of a steep-walled valley exposed to moist winds from the Bay of Bengal. The official average rainfall above quoted is about ten times the average for New York City, and it is more than 21,000 times the average for the world's driest known spot.

The summit of Mount Waialeale, in the Hawaiian Islands, is known as "Uncle Sam's dampest corner" on account of the enormous rainfall that occurs there, surpassing that of any other place under the American flag. As this mountaintop is difficult of access, measurements of the rainfall are made here only about once a year, the rain-gauge employed for the purpose being designed to hold an entire year's rainfall.

Letters

Be Kind To Dogs

Dear Editor:

I suppose you will be receiving many letters from dog lovers now that the newly organized Garden Club have "put their foot down" where dogs are concerned.

I am very much in favor of the Garden Club, especially if it encourages beautifying city yards, but dog lovers have a point too. I know because we have a dog and most of our neighbors have too. We also have a nice yard.

It is true a wee bit must be sacrificed to dog mischief every year, but if a close tally is kept it will be found dog damage will be a very minor item.

If a garden can be made to survive insect pests, plant disease, weeds, frosts early and late, sun, drying winds, improper watering and a few other things, the garden will flourish despite dogs. Ours does.

Good luck to the Garden Club, but do be lenient about dogs. The dog lover could say the dog was the first possession and companionship of man (outside his own race), long before man knew enough to make a garden to help feed himself even.

A very interested bystander,
Mrs. M. M. K.

Good Evening...

IN DEFENSE—For reasons best known to radicals the term "conservative" has come to have a connotation of retarded mentality.

The conservatives, say the radicals, are backward - looking, ineffective bumbler who should never have been allowed to creep out of the moth balls. Even our more enlightened liberals look down their noses at anything on the conservative side, taking it for granted that conservatism is synonymous with the stuffy and unimaginative.

First, let's have Webster define conservative: Having the tendency or power to preserve; that which preserves; one opposed to hasty changes in the political, religious, or civil institutions of the country.

BEING CONSERVATIVE — It can be said without too much contradiction that American conservatives have been noticeable by their absence in top flight federal posts these past 18 years.

Without quibbling it will be admitted that (by their vote) the majority of Americans have not been conservative in the same period.

The pseudo political scientist, aping liberals for the dubious distinction of hasty change, has held the reins of American policy, both foreign and domestic.

Among citizens there is a disinclination to original thought. They would rather be carried along in the present swift current of change, going no matter where, than to be caught in the backwash of contemplation and charged with the stigma of conservatism.

TIME OF NEED — There is a natural and an unnatural liberalism, as well as conservatism.

In the 1930's internal change, a breaking of conservative fetters, appeared natural and necessary to meet the needs of the times.

Domestically today the liberal policies are caught in an unnatural position. The need for change is gone but the impetus (carry-over from the swift liberal current of the 1930's) lingers on in many a muddy backwash of government bureau. The liberal has become ultra-conservative—in clinging to outmoded programs based on a one-time need.

DRAWING A LINE—In America's foreign policy there is an equally unnatural liberalism.

The slogans of Yalta and Potsdam, good in their day, are unsuited to present world conditions. Russia is no longer an ally in any constructive policy. Germany rises slowly in the throes of political and geographical disunity. China is split by Soviet-inspired war—and the United States must make a decision.

Shall it be liberalism or conservatism? Shall it be a doctrine of munificence or preservation?

Liberalism is wonderful, when there is anything to give. Conservatism is essential when the cash register is empty.

HOW SOON?—Knowing we open ourselves to the charge of being conservative, stuffy, unimaginative, hidebound and altogether despicable, we nevertheless desire to speak in defense of self-preservation.

As an ordinary citizen, not directly connected with government, we might ask how soon the government intends to abandon the now unnatural generosity of liberalism.

It is no longer a question of intent and tendency but of practical capacity to perform in the liberal manner to which we have become accustomed.

NOT ALL BLACK—The conservative citizen has as much right to ask for liberation from the liberal as the government has to ask the citizen for more money to perpetuate an unnatural liberalism.

There is as much need for quiet conservatism as for a liberal frenzied of change. The conservative is not stagnant, not unaware of domestic and foreign policy currents. All he wants is to stop the headlong dash long enough to find out where he is going and to get his wind.

Korea Veteran Denied VA Aid

Congress Expected To Revise Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said today veterans of the Korean fighting should be given every benefit made available by the government to veterans of other wars.

He said it was up to Congress to change the law under which hospitalization was denied by the veterans administration to a Korean veteran for a non service-connected disability.

A former marine who fought in the Korean war has been denied treatment in a veterans administration hospital because he is not a veteran of a recognized war.

The veteran, David R. Arellano, Jr., 21, of Tucson, was unable to enter the hospital yesterday. He was then taken to Pima county hospital and operated on for a throat cancer.

Col. J. E. Gaines, hospital manager, said he was unable to help the onetime member of a bazooka squad because actually the United States is not at war with Korea.

Gaines expressed regret he had been unable to help Arellano.

"We at the veteran's hospital are completely sympathetic with the plight of these men. Under the present status we are not at war in Korea so these men are not eligible for treatment."

Then he added:

"If it isn't a war, I'd like to know what the hell it is."

Detroit Mechanic, 20, Survives 130-Foot Fall On Mountain

Yosemite, Calif.—(AP)—A young Detroit mechanic who tumbled 130 feet from a mountain cliff was recovering today from a compound ankle fracture and mild shock.

For hours it was feared that Jerry Wolschon, 20, had fallen to his death. The accident happened Tuesday and Yosemite national park rangers were unable to locate him before nightfall.

But yesterday they came on the injured man and sent word that he had spent a cold night but was in good condition.

Wolschon and Bernard P. Herrington, Jr., also 20, were on vacation.

Herrington saw his chum slip from the cliff but was not able to see where he had fallen.

Murphy gained the big money shot last night by bruising and cutting down Danny Nardico, of Tampa, Fla., for a spectacular fourth round technical knockout in a televised scheduled 10 rounder at Chicago Stadium.

MacArthur May Soon Discard Gold Braid

NEW YORK—(AP)—The famous braid hat and uniform worn by Gen. Douglas MacArthur may soon give way to muffs.

Whitney added that he doesn't know when MacArthur will don his "civvies."

Big Cliffs Carrier Arrives At Chicago For Lakes Ore Run

CHICAGO—(AP)—The Cliffs Victory, largest ship ever to edge its way through the narrow Mississippi inland waterway to the Great Lakes, is ready to carry ore in the northern waters.

The Cliffs Victory arrived at Lake Michigan yesterday after being maneuvered 3,000 miles through a series of tight fits—narrow waters, curves and bridges.

A former ocean vessel that measures 620 feet, the Cliffs Victory was converted to an ore carrier at Baltimore, Md., and being purchased by the Cleveland Cliffs Steamship company. It was cut in half and a center section was added to achieve the present length.

Cleveland Cliffs plans to refit the vessel and then put it into service.

The Inland Steel company's Wilfred Sykes, 678 feet and built at Lorain, O., is well ahead of Cliffs Victory in size.

Dreams About Romance And Rita Are Crushed

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—With a muffled sob I lament today the avowed intent of the Princess Rita Hayworth to shed her slightly bald dream prince, the comfortable well-off Aly Kahn. It seems too completely attuned to the times. Not even fairy tales are immune from reality any more. They wind up with the prince nuzzling a mouse on the maiden air, who in turn hustles home to the equivalent of a mouse, chanting a litany that includes the words "property settlement" and custody of the cat.

I am old and possibly corny, but until now a feverish addict of the school that stresses living happy ever after. When the dream prince rides off into the sunset with the demsel draped across his saddlebow, they owe it to their public to stay wed. Otherwise, the faith of innocents like me is shattered, and our ideals are ground into the dust.

Courted feverishly
Consider the case of Miss Hayworth and the Kahn (JG). They courted each other feverishly around the world, and finally the home town papers hailed Rita as a heroine when she dropped the noose on the boy and hauled him to the altar. After all, a simple American girl had succeeded where Columbus failed. She had, at least, found a new short trade route to the Indies.

Rita's fairy tale sustained me in the hours of bitter need—when Shirley Temple and Elizabeth Taylor canned their dewy romances after short spaces of stormy bliss, when Humphrey Bogart was barred from the Stork club—I still had Rita and Aly cat, I mean Kahn, to keep me warm.

Somehow the picture of Rita, as the potential queen of eight zillion Moslems tickled the bucolic fancy. I was able to bear up under the seeming defections of Bill O'Dwyer and the bitter news that not all cops are honest and even the basketball scandals, because not all beautiful hoofers achieve fathers-in-law who get weighed in diamonds. Even the stark ugliness of the RFC was bearable because I had both Rita and Virginia Hill to tell me that lasting success may be honestly come by.

Childish Dreams Crushed
My childish dreams crushed beneath reality's feet. I now retreat to bitterness and cynicism. Don't say Cinderella to me, Bub. That pumpkin coach was a house advertisement for the farm lobby, and she had bunions under those glass shoes. Jack the giant killer actually worked for Murder, Inc., and old Mother Hubbard was a five percentor.

It has not been a very pleasant world of late, with fingers of suspicion pointed everywhere, and the nation's nastiness being occasionally lanced for all to see and scorn. We feel that our leaders have let us down, that honesty is the worst policy, and that everybody is as confused as you and I personally. This is indeed a deplorable state of affairs, necessitating a belief in fairy tales. Dreams are about all you have left, after taxes.

After the double cross by Rita, how am I to believe now that Luckies taste better than any other cigarette, that Henry Morgan is not a puppet, and there really is a Santa Claus? For all I know Santa Claus is Toots Shor.

Ah, well, I suppose every young man meets the day when he must learn to face reality, must put aside faith for fact. This is my bitter day of maturity, and I blame it all on Rita and Aly. I will now make a side bet that Damon loathed Pythias, and that it will not be overlong before the gamblers fix baseball. Pass the Kleenex, dear; papa is going to settle down and have a good cry.

Exports Of Rubber To Red China Will Be Halted By Britain

LONDON—(AP)—The British government announced today it is cutting off all rubber exports to Red China for the rest of 1951.

The decision was made known in the House of Commons a few minutes after Winston Churchill demanded such a step in the interest of better relations between Britain and the United States.

Churchill told the House of Commons during a debate on export of strategic materials to the Chinese Reds that the labor government's policy on rubber and other matters involving Peiping is impairing British-American relations.

Churchill said that Britain's recognition of Red China in 1949 had "much offended" America, and added that as a result Britain is "in the illogical position of having diplomatic relations with a Chinese government formally censured by the United Nations, and which is engaged in attacking United States soldiers, United Nations soldiers and also our small contingent in Korea."

Marshall Returns For Senate Quiz

Yalu river—a move he said was "not permissible."

Dismissal Not Discussed
Marshall said yesterday the Pentagon "didn't particularly appreciate" this statement by Stratemeyer, commander of the Far East air force, published in the magazine U. S. News and World Report. Marshall said he didn't think the statement was cleared but would check and report to the committee.

In response to a question by Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N. J.), the defense secretary added the issue of dismissing Stratemeyer for the statement "has not been brought up to the president."

He noted that Stratemeyer is "not a person in the prominent position of General MacArthur."

Marshall testified the same restrictions on public statements the administration tried to apply unsuccessfully on MacArthur affect his successor, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, nominated by Mr. Truman yesterday to be a full four-star general.

With this and MacArthur's ouster in mind, Bridges told a reporter he sees in Marshall's testimony an effort to cut off all expressions of opinion by military commanders.

"They are trying to enforce a complete gag rule," the New Hampshire senator said. "I don't think they can get away with it."

Korea Veteran Denied VA Aid

Congress Expected To Revise Law

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said today veterans of the Korean fighting should be given every benefit made available by the government to veterans of other wars.

He said it was up to Congress to change the law under which hospitalization was denied by the veterans administration to a Korean veteran for a non service-connected disability.

A former marine who fought in the Korean war has been denied treatment in a veterans administration hospital because he is not a veteran of a recognized war.

The veteran, David R. Arellano, Jr., 21, of Tucson, was unable to enter the hospital yesterday. He was then taken to Pima county hospital and operated on for a throat cancer.

Col. J. E. Gaines, hospital manager, said he was unable to help the onetime member of a bazooka squad because actually the United States is not at war with Korea.

Gaines expressed regret he had been unable to help Arellano. "We at the veteran's hospital are completely sympathetic with the plight of these men. Under the present status we are not at war in Korea so these men are not eligible for treatment."

Then he added:

"If it isn't a war, I'd like to know what the hell it is."

Detroit Mechanic, 20, Survives 130-Foot Fall On Mountain

Yosemite, Calif.—(AP)—A young Detroit mechanic who tumbled 130 feet from a mountain cliff was recovering today from a compound ankle fracture and mild shock.

For hours it was feared that Jerry Wolschon, 20, had fallen to his death. The accident happened Tuesday and Yosemite national park rangers were unable to locate him before nightfall.

But yesterday they came on the injured man and sent word that he had spent a cold night but was in good condition.

Wolschon and Bernard P. Herrington, Jr., also 20, were on vacation.

Herrington saw his chum slip from the cliff but was not able to see where he had fallen.

Button, button... and the call goes through

Push buttons simplify a lot of jobs in this electric age.

Ten little push buttons now help Long Distance telephone operators handle more calls more quickly.

A customer gives the operator the out-of-town number. She swiftly presses several buttons, which correspond to the letters and numbers on a telephone dial, and the call goes straight through to the distant telephone.

That's the way it works in Detroit and a number of cities throughout the country. In many other places, including more than a dozen Michigan exchanges, telephone operators speed Long Distance calls by dialing direct to many points with regular dials.

Named "operator toll dialing," this new development is already being used on one and a half million Long Distance calls every day and is steadily being expanded. Every minute it saves is important right now as the nation turns to the telephone to hurry our defenses.

To help speed your Long Distance call, please give the operator the out-of-town telephone number. Telephone lines are busy with national defense

The bride wore a ballerina length gown of white frosted organdy over aqua taffeta and a white organdy duster with full three-quarter length sleeves and she carried an orchid corsage with satin streamers on a white prayer book. Her sister, Suzanne, of SENEY, maid of honor, wore a ballerina dress of pink frosted organdy and carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Miss Nancy Tervo of Ann Arbor, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid, wore yellow frosted organdy and carried pink roses.

Duane King was ringbearer. Ronald Bell, the bridegroom's brother was best man and ushers were Merton Bell and Loyal Chawford.

A reception was held in the church parlors, immediately following the ceremony.

The newlyweds will live at 415 West Madison street in Ann Arbor after their return from their honeymoon. For traveling the bride selected a navy and white polka dot ensemble with red accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Newberry high school, took a practical nursing course at Marquette and a short course in home economics at East Lansing. She is with the Bell Telephone Co., in Ann Arbor. Her husband, an Ann Arbor high school graduate, is a tool and die maker at King Seeley.

Chapman Boosts Public Power

Wants Transmission Lines Extended

By MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON—So much has been printed in recent months about public servants who betray the public trust for favor and influence that the picture of Washington before the country could hardly be darker. The impression of a kind of Gomorrah on the Potomac is enhanced by those who seem to want to discredit not just one president or one administration but all government.

In this atmosphere it may be worth noting a public servant who has remained faithful to the public interest. The other day Oscar Chapman observed the anniversary of his eighteenth year with the Department of Interior, first as assistant secretary, then under secretary and finally secretary. This is one instance where ability has been rewarded with promotion to the top job that too often is handed out as a political reward.

New Deal Holdover
As one of the very few survivors of the New Deal, Chapman is such a rarity that it would not be surprising one day to find him under glass in the Smithsonian Institution. And because he has held to his New Deal convictions he has frequently of late been a target for attack by those who believe that anything put forward after the era of Rameses II must be dangerously radical.

In these angry times conversation is likely to become a kind of growing match. On such an occasion recently one of the wealthy young men in the South, the inheritor of a comfortable fortune, was holding forth on the iniquity of Washington and the evils of almost everyone holding office here. Suddenly he came forth with this:

"Why, sir, I would rather have this country taken over by Joe Stalin than by Oscar Chapman."

It came as something of a surprise to the company present that Secretary Chapman wanted to take over America. The plot was unfolding, we were told, through Chapman's furtherance of public power development and the construction of publicly owned transmission lines from dams built with public funds.

Public Power
Repeatedly, Congress has voted for both public power developments and for the construction of transmission lines. Through the power division of the department of interior, Secretary Chapman is responsible for carrying out the policies approved by the Congress. Moreover, and this would seem to be in accord with proper government practice, he believes in the necessity for limited participation by government in the power field. If he were out of sympathy with the policy approved again and again by Congress, then he would not be the right person to administer that policy.

The government has entered the power field, under limited participation, in two ways. One is the yardstick approach which holds that since the power industry is in any event a monopoly, it is desirable to have some competition from other than private producers. The second is the need for government to accept certain social responsibilities and obligations which private enterprise cannot or will not for a variety of reasons carry out.

Thinking along this line has been behind the construction of TVA and the big hydroelectric dams in the Pacific Northwest. It is back of one of the most far-reaching developments in this country — rural electrification which has progressed until today more than 90 per cent of America's farms have power.

Not "Taking Over"
While this has been happening private utilities have greatly increased their sales of power. They are making the same phenomenal profits as other private business. They still own and conduct about 90 per cent of the entire power operation in this country.

In the face of these facts, for anyone to talk about government "taking over" the power industry is a willful distortion of the truth. Those who wish to discredit any and all government try to tag this activity with the smear words, Socialist or Communist. It has nothing to do with Socialism or Communism, being an American approach to the role of government that we have seen repeated over and over again. One of the early examples was when the federal government gave vast tracts of government-owned land to the railroads to help open up settlement of the continent.

Chapman is just now opposing the efforts of a coalition of Republicans and ultra conservative Democrats who have cut out appropriations to provide transmission lines to tie up with power projects built with public funds. He argues that to allow the private utility to buy the low-cost power at the dam site is to deprive the consumer of the benefit intended by Congress when funds for the project were voted and give the benefit instead to the private company. That is his duty and it is well to remember that there are men who are trying to live up to their obligations.

Park In Canada, Come
Back In 10-Cent Bus

DETROIT — (AP) — Detroit's transit strike is driving some motorists right out of the country.

With parking space at a premium in the downtown area, some businessmen have adopted the following practice:

Then they take a 10 cent bus ride back to the United States, getting off in the heart of downtown.

town and so doing very little walking. The Canadian stunt costs $1.20, but that's about the same as the jam-packed big lots charge in Detroit.

In This Corner

With Roy Crandall

Loss of Pitcher Bob Patrick was sad news for the Escanaba high school baseball team. Coach Jim Rouman told us that the southpaw senior was developing into a strong and capable pitcher this season and that he had expected a lot of good work from the youngster.

Put as the Eskey coaches and school officials realize, health and physical well-being of their athletes is of first importance. The game itself comes second. It's the proper attitude, of course, and one that is followed by the majority of athletic supervisors.

Our first tour of an Escanaba golf course Tuesday afternoon produced no spectacular score, but it was exceptional in that we didn't lose a single ball. We were somewhat out of our weight class, making the round with I. R. Peterson, Whitney Dixon and Carl G. Friets. Dixon shot a 45, but we won't reveal the other scores. Met a lot of the fellows at Highland and had a thoroughly nice time.

The Missus asked us again in her letter yesterday if we had a place to live yet. Had to write a regretful no. So we're still looking if any one knows of anything available.

Most of our time on the new job here so far has been taken up in getting acquainted with the various sports contacts in the city and the townspeople whom we run into on our rounds. We'd like to tell you how much we appreciate the cordial reception we've received and the friendliness displayed by everyone. It's making the task of getting started so much easier.

Rapid River Dumps Cooks In 15-8 Tilt

COOKS—Rapid River scored in every inning to whip Cooks yesterday by a 15-8 score.

Rapid River jumped on VanRemortel for 13 hits, paced by Al Roleau who pounded out two doubles and a triple in five times up. Strasser poked a homer and a single for the losers.

Pedersen dished up six hits for Rapid River and fanned 11 Van Remortel whiffed 10.

The game was marred by an injury to Carley of Cooks who was spiked at second base in the 12th inning. The gash required 12 stitches.

The Rapid River girls' baseball team thrumped Cooks 27-10 in a preliminary.

Coach Norman Slough's Rapid River nine will be seeking its third straight against St. Joseph Saturday.

Girls Softball Meet Called For Sunday

There will be a meeting of managers of girls' softball teams interested in joining a city league Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the Ludington Park diamond.

Teams from Bark River and Gladstone have been invited to take part.

Little Leaguers Come To Esky

Try-Outs Saturday At Royce Diamond

The "Little Big Leaguers," that phenomenal big-league baseball in miniature which mushroomed into a national giant, has come to Escanaba.

Under the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, the Lion's Club, the St. Joseph Boosters and the Delta Hardware, and run in conjunction with the city of Escanaba recreation program, this "Little League" will provide fun and pleasure and a chance to compete, for all the red-blooded youngsters between the ages of eight and 12 years of age in Escanaba.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce will serve in supervisory measures with the local board and is buying the helmets for the entire league plus one-half the insurance for each boy in the league.

Four Teams Due to curtailment in the city recreation department this new activity has come at an opportune time as there will be need for additional supervision for these "mighty midgets."

There will be four teams and each team will have its own manager, 12 uniformed players and six reserves. Competition will be keen. The managers are Mac McCormer for the St. Joseph Boosters, Robert Grabowski for the Delta Hardware, Lawrence Erickson and Leonard Olson for the Rotary, B. J. Flath and Jim Fitzpatrick for the Lions. Frank Neumeier, chairman of the youth committee for the Junior Chamber of Commerce, will serve on the advisory board.

The managing personnel will include Al Ness, president; Jerome Deloria, vice-president; Don Nyquist, secretary, Karl Dickson, treasurer, and Frank Neumeier.

Try-outs for the teams will start Saturday, May 12, at the Royce diamond on 19th street at 1:30 p. m.

Eskymos Top St. Joe 14-2 In Season Debut

Escanaba high school opened its spring baseball schedule yesterday afternoon with a convincing 14-2 victory over St. Joseph at the city athletic field diamond.

Coach Jim Rouman's Eskys took a commanding lead in the second inning which saw six runs cross the plate. Errors in the St. Joe infield contributed to the splurge. Jack Chriske held St. Joseph batters to five hits with Tom Kroll tossing the last inning for the winners.

Don Paulin worked five innings on the St. Joe hill and was relieved in the sixth by Freshman Legault.

Kroll Triples Kroll supplied the best hit of the game in the fourth inning, slapping a double into left-center field to drive in two runs. He also placed a single, walked and was hit by a pitched ball in four appearances at the plate.

Paul Gunderman, shortstop, got the only other extra-base hit of the game, a double to left field. Dick Whitney singled over third with the bases loaded in the second for Escanaba. The relay to home plate was high and all three runners came in. Whitney collected another single and scored three runs.

All St. Joseph hits were singles and no batter collected more than one. Umpires were Phil Brazeau and Al Ness.

Escanaba returns to action tomorrow afternoon in a home stand against Marquette.

The individuality of flavor that distinguishes Old Style Lager starts with the barley... specially selected by our own experts at the very blash of top flavor. Barley is the soul of the beer. When choicest barley malt is skillfully combined with costly imported and domestic hops... when brewing is done with unburied old-world care... when lagering (ageing) continues far longer than is usual in this country... then, and only then, can you expect a better beer—Old Style Lager beer! You'll love the smooth, the mild, the mellow taste of this fine light lager beer. Ask for Old Style Lager today. Always the same—always superb.

Conscious Effort to Cock Wrists Is Not Necessary

Ninth of a series written and illustrated for NEA Service

By JOHNNY PALMER

Former Western Open Champion

Too much emphasis has been put on cocking the wrists. As I wrote in the P.G.A. Teachers' Guide, a golfer should not be conscious of this part of the swing. It should be automatic. Cocking the wrists in the backswing should come naturally, the same as uncocking in the downswing.

Remove the stress of a conscious effort to cock the wrists, and the danger of premature cocking and upsetting the entire stroke will be removed.

Personally, I stick to the square stance, with both feet on a line parallel to the desired line of flight of the ball.

I particularly advocate it for beginners.

The swing is of such basic and tremendous importance that it should be taken apart and put back together again, piece by piece.

To begin with, the correct grip should be employed. Most good grips basically are the same.

One thing to avoid, especially for beginners, is experimentation with new grips if anything should bother them with the standard grip.

In an attempt to correct one fault, you most likely will fall into several more.

Timing and rhythm are important.

This takes plenty of the right kind of practice.

See a professional to make sure you aren't wasting practice time. The best way to develop timing and smoothness is not to try to hit the ball too hard, regardless of the club you're swinging.

Just try to hit the ball straight and firmly.

Forget distance. The necessary distance will be

WRIST ACTION—Jimmy Demaret demonstrates that cocking the wrists on the backswing should come naturally, the same as uncocking on the downswing. (NEA) obtained through proper timing. A straight shot will come as a result of smoothness and a square impact with the ball.

Distance will be achieved gradually.

NEXT: If you strain, or get into uncomfortable positions, you're making a mistake somewhere, warns Johnny Palmer.

Tigers Win Third In Row, Begin Road Trip

DETROIT — (P) — The Detroit Tigers—ripping along with a win streak—will now try their new-found claws in the east.

They'll tackle all four eastern clubs during the two-week trip that begins tonight. Included on the jaunt are also four games with the lowly St. Louis Browns, the best sandlot team in the majors.

The Tigers have kicked around the eastern clubs during the home stand that ends today. If the Detroiters repeat the stunt in the east they could well come home May 25 as pennant contenders.

Freddie Hutchinson was scheduled to pitch against Bob Kuza of the Senators today. A victory would give the Tigers a 9-4 mark for the home stand.

Rolf threw dependable Hal Newhauser, the only Tiger who has pitched a complete game this year, against the Senators yesterday.

Second For Hal Hal came through with his second straight win. The tall left-hander scattered seven Senators hits as the Tigers skipped to a 4-0 win. It was their third straight.

Hal's control was near-perfect. He walked no one and scattered his hits one an inning until the ninth. A double play got him out of a hole and ended the game after the first two batters hit in the ninth.

The Tigers head for St. Louis first before going east.

It is possible that regular outfielder Johnny Groth might be back in uniform for one of the four games with the Browns. The series includes single games Friday night and Saturday afternoon and a doubleheader Sunday.

However if Steve Souchock, his latest substitute, keeps hitting the way he did yesterday, Johnny may have to wait a while before playing regularly.

Firs. Homer Souchock, acquired from Sacramento mainly as a right-handed pinchhitter, smashed his first homer and a single in three times at bat.

Souchock's two blows and Hoot Evers' single were the only hits off loser Al Sima. In the eighth Jerry Priddy, Dick Kryhoski who has hit in eight straight games, George Kell, and Vic Wertz singled to produce two runs off relief pitcher Joe Haynes.

Kryhoski, who replaced first baseman Don Kolloway in the eighth, now has whacked 12 hits in his last 29 times at bat.

Millers Climb Into Third In Association

(By The Associated Press) Minneapolis, an also-ran a week ago, now is entrenched in the American Association third spot after a five-game winning streak.

In their bid to pass Kansas City and Milwaukee in the climb upward, the Millers last night continued their heavy hitting for a 15-7 win over Louisville. Rookie Willie Mays, hitting .417 before the game, got five for five.
